INTRODUCTION

Presentation

In March, 1955, the Publications Branch of the Department of Public Printing and Stationery issued for distribution to libraries an "Outline of classification for Government Publications".¹ Since then, the outgrowing number of Canadian Federal Publications and the numerous changes carried out in the "Executive" have made this edition outdated and inadequate. The pressing demand for a more complete and up-to-date scheme encouraged us in compiling this loose-leaf edition.

As a system, a classification scheme is never complete and always subject to a certain number of modifications. That is why the loose-leaf book form seems to be more appropriate and when necessary, revised or additional pages will be prepared to bring the classification up-to-date.

Following the pattern adopted for the monthly and annual catalogues, this revised edition is divided into English and French sections. The latter being a scheme of the bilingual publications or those totally published in French and not a literal translation of all the English titles of the first part.

So, as now developed, this system should provide all depository and interested libraries with enough information as to how to shelve Canadian Federal documents in a rational and "easy to reach" arrangement.

Any comments on this classification system and all constructive suggestions for future improvement will be greatly appreciated and taken into consideration.

Following the pattern adopted for the monthly and annual catalogues, this revised edition is divided into English and French sections. The latter being a share of the bilingual publications or those totally published in French and not a literal translation of all the English titles of the first part.

So, as now developed, this system should provide all libraries and interested libraries with enough information as to how to classify Canadian Government documents in a rational and "easy to teach" arrangement.

INTRODUCTION

Classification system

In 1953, a special scheme of classification by Canadian Federal Government corporate bodies was evolved for the Publications Branch of the Department of Public Printing and Stationery to speed up distribution and storage of publications. The system was developed in the Documents Library specifically to give a call number for each publication in stock. Those numbers are also used to identify titles listed in the Daily Checklist, Monthly, Annual and Sectional Catalogues, selected title bulletins and promotional material issued by this Department.

The system is alpha-numeric. Capital letters are used for the main classes which are listed under sections 3 and 4 of the work, and arabic numerals are used for the Divisions under the main classes and for the book number. The capital letter "F" added at the end of the catalogue number means the publication is in French Language.

In 1952, when the main classes were chosen, a certain number of class and sub-class symbols were taken from the first letter of the key word in the official designation of a department ("C" for Commerce). A small case letter was added to the first letter when it was necessary ("Ci" for Citizenship) to differentiate one Department from another if their key-word had the same first letter. Two Capital letters were used for independent or semi-independent agencies ("CS" for Commerce-Dominion Bureau of Statistics). In practice, the alphabetical order is now used in the P. P. & S. stores and in the Documents

Library. The reason for this attitude is that the official title of some departments changes over the years and the dependance of agencies, boards or commissions, etc. is passing from the authority of one department to another, and that, as a result, the class letter does no longer correspond to the key-word in certain cases. For example: "R" is for Northern Affairs formerly Resources; and "SA" for Archives and "SN" for National Library, formerly being under the Secretary of State "S" and now are under the Department of Citizenship and Immigration. In the choice of a symbol for a new class, actually, we prefer a distinctive or practical one than a symbol with a logic or mnemonic significance.

So, the main classes are for corporate authors except classes YP, YS, YX and Z which group special kinds of publications as Sessional Papers, Statutes of Canada, Reports of Royal Commissions, etc.

The topics, divisions or sub-divisions and book numbers are expressed by arabic numerals divided in two or three sections by a hyphen and an oblique. (E.g. SC1-1958; M36-59/1-1). The digits to complete the class mark are given in the schedules but in general only the way to build the book number is indicated. The following signs and abbreviations are used in this purpose.

1+	=	publications numbered consecutively (accession number)
a	=	year (annum) publication date or report date
c	=	chapter, serial number, as appearing on publication
ps	=	parliament and session
v	=	volume

Sample: Topics, division and individual publications

- 5a and so on

We hope, that these few samples will help you in the use of the schedules. Many gaps have been left in the numbering, making it possible to expand when necessary by adding annexed numbers.

PUBLIC PRINTING AND STATIONERY

The Board, in accordance with provisions of Section 7 of the Public Printing and Stationery Act and Section 7 (e) of the Financial Administration Act, approve the attached Regulations relating to the distribution of government publications.

JOHN J. DEUTSCH,

Secretary.

REGULATIONS RELATING TO THE DISTRIBUTION OF GOVERNMENT PUBLICATIONS

A. Interpretation

For the purpose of these regulations,

"Government Publications" commonly called public documents shall include any paper, map, pamphlet or book, whether processed or printed, issued by any of the several departments of government, with or without the official imprint, for distribution outside of government services.

"Annual Catalogues of Canadian Government Publications" issued by the Queen's Printer are official lists of government publications.

"Special Catalogues" include departmental, subject and other separates of the Annual Catalogues.

"Daily Checklists" are information bulletins issued to supplement Annual and Special Catalogues.

"Monthly Catalogues" are compilations of publications listed in Daily Checklists.

"Department" means and includes the two Houses of Parliament and the several departments and agencies of the Government of Canada which are subject to the provisions of the Public Printing and Stationery Act and other agencies of the Crown which, through agreements with the Queen's Printer, wish to have their publications distributed and sold through the Department of Public Printing and Stationery.

B. Preparation of Catalogues, Checklists, etc.

1. (a) The Department of Public Printing and Stationery is authorized to issue Annual, Monthly and Special Catalogues and Daily Checklists, as defined above.
- (b) Other departments requiring departmental or special catalogues for their own purposes will arrange, wherever possible, to have such catalogues printed from the type set for the listing of government publications in Annual Catalogues and Daily Checklists or supplements thereof.
2. (a) For the purpose of preparing these catalogues and the Daily Checklists, departments shall inform the Queen's Printer of all government publications held in stock and, on a form provided by the Queen's Printer, of all government publications they propose to process or print, excepting press releases and speeches.
- (b) Except as provided in subsection (c) of this section, all government publications, other than press releases and speeches, shall be listed in Daily Checklists, Monthly, Annual and Special Catalogues, such listings to carry appropriate notes indicating whether they are processed or printed, for sale, available for free distribution generally, in Canada only or abroad only, the source of supply, as departments concerned may direct.

- (c) In order to avoid unwarranted demands or unnecessary distribution of a government publication intended for a specific purpose, the issuing department may direct the Queen's Printer to omit such publication from the Catalogues and Daily Checklists.
- (d) In any case where a government publication is to be tabled in Parliament, the issuing department will so advise the Queen's Printer when submitting the requisition for printing thereof, and will forward a copy of such requisition to the Secretary of State, and the Queen's Printer will refrain from making any distribution of such publication until authorized in writing by the Secretary of State or by the Minister or Deputy Minister of the issuing department.

C. Sales

1. (a) Except as provided in subsection (b) of this section, the Queen's Printer will have general responsibility for the sale of all government publications, and other departments may sell government publications only by agreement with him.
- (b) Departments at present authorized to distribute and sell government publications of a class or kind commonly known as maps and charts may continue to exercise that authority unless such maps and charts are used as part of another government publication, and also, by agreement, may authorize the Queen's Printer to carry on the sale of any or all of such maps and charts.
2. Except for maps and charts distributed and sold directly by the issuing department as provided in section (b) above:
 - (a) Cost to the extent of fifty per cent of the selling price determined by agreement between the Queen's Printer and the department concerned for government publications ordered for sale including reprint editions with revisions or corrections, shall be borne by the Queen's Printer.

- (b) In cases of reprint editions ordered by him for sale, the Queen's Printer will bear the full costs of such reprint editions, provided that the reprint edition is approved by the issuing department.
- (c) Proceeds from the sales of government publications made by departments, at prices fixed by the Queen's Printer and the departments concerned, shall be deposited to the credit of the Receiver General in such manner as may be prescribed from time to time by Treasury Board regulations and reported monthly to the Queen's Printer.
- (d) Departments annually shall provide the Queen's Printer with a statement of their sales of each government publication and of stocks for sale on hand, and shall deliver to him such stocks surplus to requirements for disposal in the manner prescribed by Treasury Board Minute of March 2, 1951, T.B. 402445.

D. Free Distribution by the Queen's Printer

1. Except maps and charts, which he may have for sale only, the Queen's Printer shall send, without charge, copies of each government publication, currently listed in Daily Checklists, as follows: (a) five copies to the Library of Parliament; (b) two copies to the National Library; (c) one copy each in English or in French or both, as desired, to the full depository libraries in Canada established by signed agreement with the Queen's Printer and to libraries in other countries as per lists established and revised each year by the Department of External Affairs;
2. One copy of the same current government publications shall be sent on application, without charge, to persons and institutions as follows, provided that requests are made within ten days following the receipt of Checklists: (a) Senators and Members of the Parliament of Canada; (b) Ministers of the Government of Canada and their Parliamentary Assistants; (c) Central Library of each Provincial Legislature in Canada; (d) Public Libraries in Canada; (e) University, Law Faculty and College Libraries in Canada; (f) Departmental Libraries of the Government of

- Canada; (g) Members of Provincial Governments of Canada; (h) Diplomatic Representatives of foreign countries in Canada; (i) Canadian Representatives in other countries and Trade Commissioners for Canada; (j) The Press Gallery, Ottawa; (k) Daily newspapers and a list of selected Weeklies; (l) educational social or political organizations of international character, libraries or other public institutions in other countries or any official in such countries as may be recommended by the Department of External Affairs; (m) any library outside of Canada not receiving publications as under 2(1) above and reported each year to the Queen's Printer as exchanging publications with the Library of Parliament or the National Library;
3. Upon request from the institution concerned, the Minister in charge of the Department of Public Printing and Stationery may authorize the free distribution of a reasonable number of additional copies of government publications to University, Law Faculty and College Libraries in Canada;
 4. When urgently required in the performance of their duties, Ministers, Parliamentary Assistants, Deputy Ministers, Heads of Commissions, Boards, or of administrative services of the Government may obtain free of charge from the Queen's Printer or from any Department one copy of any saleable government publication; further copies to be requisitioned in the usual way;
 5. Except as provided in Section D.4 above, government publications required by departments in excess of one copy initially supplied free by the Queen's Printer, as provided in D.2 (f), may be obtained through the Queen's Printer only, at a cost if ordered at the time of printing and at current selling prices if ordered at the time of printing and at current selling prices if ordered from stock or from a department authorized to sell publications on his behalf;
 6. The Minister in charge of the Department of Public Printing and Stationery may, in the case of any one or all of the public bodies, libraries, institutions or persons mentioned in paragraph D.2: (a) restrict for reasons of economy the distribution of any government publication or class of government publications; (b) prohibit distribution in cases of abuse;

7. Newly appointed Ministers and newly elected Members of Parliament may obtain free of charge on written request, if available from stock, one copy of all parliamentary papers issued during the previous Parliament and any intervening sessions in the case of Ministers, and, in the case of Members, parliamentary papers issued during the previous session; also current legal documents not available from the Parliamentary Distribution Office;
8. For all purposes these regulations apply to the free distribution of Annual Reports of Departments, except that the responsibility for distribution to Senators and Members of Parliament shall remain with Departments unless otherwise arranged;
9. Nothing herein shall apply to the free distribution and sale of the Statutes of Canada and of the Canada Gazette Part II or to any other government publications, the conditions of distribution or sale of which may have been determined specifically by the Governor in Council;
10. The Queen's Printer may order the processing or printing or, in the case of government publications issued for free distribution only, obtain from departments free of charge the number of copies of government publications necessary for the above approved free distribution;
11. Expenditures involved in carrying out these regulations, including the mailing of Daily Checklists and Catalogues, as well as for advertising and the promotion of the sale of publications shall be payable from a vote to be provided by Parliament for this purpose;
12. The Queen's Printer shall prepare at the end of each year an inventory report of the publications held in stock in his department, indicating, by departments, the number of copies of each publication received, sold and distributed free of charge under this regulation.

E. Distribution by Departments

1. Nothing herein contained is intended to restrict the practice by departments, of sending government publications, fully paid for by them, free of charge, as answers to enquiries, or exchange for publications of a like nature received from other governments and institutions, or for promotional purposes, as part of an authorized administrative program, except with regard to the provisions of paragraph 2 below;
2. Departments shall refrain from distributing government publications, except for press releases and speeches, to all persons or institutions designated in paragraphs D.1 and 2 as being entitled to receive publications free of charge from the Queen's Printer; however, in any case where they consider it in the public interest to do so, departments may distribute government publications to members of provincial governments and to members of the Press Gallery;
3. Exchange of publications referred to in D.2 (m) shall be limited to publications of a like nature or to issues of publications or separates of publications related to studies or subjects of the same type;
4. Departments shall review and screen mailing lists used for the distribution of government publications as provided in Section 11 of the Treasury Board directive 1954-26 of December 22, 1954; in making this review, departments shall consult with the Queen's Printer, and, when convenient and economical, the mailing of government publications shall be transferred to him;
5. Distribution in departments shall be made from a departmental central office when convenient and economical;
6. Requisition, supply, rental, and inventory control of addressing and mailing equipment shall be in accordance with the provisions of Treasury Board Minute of January 14, 1955, T.B. 481131.

F. Disagreements

Any disagreements between the Queen's Printer and a department resulting from the application of these regulations shall be referred to the Standing Committee on Publications for consideration and report to the Treasury Board.

G. Miscellaneous

Permission to agencies outside of the Government of Canada to use standing type, art, work, negatives, plates and dies, owned by the government, for the reprinting of a government publication that is for sale by the government at the time, or reproduce wholly or in part therefrom, by any process, may be granted only by agreement with the Queen's Printer.

OPERATIONS AND ACTIVITIES OF PUBLISHING BRANCH

A. Government Publications

B. The Queen's Printer as a Publisher

C. Principal functions of the Publications Branch

A. Government Publications

A substantial portion of the functions of Government is necessarily concerned with the development, issuance and distribution of publications which not only provide information concerning the varied and complicated activities of Government, with its multifarious responsibilities and innumerable services, but also supply indispensable data to research and technical workers, and to persons and institutions with specific business, professional and academic interests.

Government publications provide the citizens with a record of the activities of Parliament and Government, and their contents report and describe the work of the numerous bodies which constitute the governmental machinery through which the legislative, judicial and executive functions are performed. The importance of these publications needs no demonstration. That it has always been great and is steadily increasing no doubt reflects the continual growth of the prerogatives and responsibilities of the State in the modern world. It is natural that these many activities should be mirrored in the documents which make their consequences known; the publication of such documents is indeed one of the forms of State action, and in many cases is prescribed by law. In an age, moreover, when publications of every kind are becoming more and more numerous, it is not surprising that those of the State should follow the same trend. Much activity which used to lie with private initiative has been taken up by the State and, consequently, official publications cover the most widely varied subjects and are often as essential for public information as they are for scientific knowledge.

The vast amount of political, technical, scientific, industrial and statistical information found in Government publications provides authentic accounts of past and present conditions, affords bases for measuring and forecasting the constitutional, social and economic evolution of the nation, and produces a body of documentation that guides the legislators and, to a great degree, influences the ultimate prosperity of the country.

"Government publication" or "publication" as herein employed is defined to include any document, compilation, journal, law, resolution, blue-book, statute, code, register, pamphlet, list, book, report, memorandum, hearing, legislative bill, leaflet, order, regulation, directory, periodical or magazine issued by the Government, the Parliament, constitutional officers, or any department, commission or other agency thereof in print, and "print" is defined to include all forms of duplicating other than by the use of carbon paper.

The catalogues issued by the Superintendent of Publications emphasizes the need for appropriate management of this huge publishing activity, not only as it relates to economical and on-schedule production, but also to the proper publishing procedures to the adequate distribution and sale of Government publications.

B. The Queen's Printer as a Publisher

The Queen's Printer is the official publisher of the Government of Canada.

General Publishing

Publishing is "to make public". It is the whole intellectual and business procedure of selecting and editing, printing and binding a book and of promoting its ultimate use. To perform an editorial service alone is not to publish; to requisition printing and binding services alone is not to publish; to promote sales is not, in itself, to publish. Publishing is to do all of these things in an integrated process.

It is only when a manuscript has been transformed into a book and then distributed to its intended reader, that the process of publishing is complete. The difference between printing a book and really publishing it lies in the knowledge of its content at the editing stage and in the quality of the job done of informing the public about it through catalogues, bibliographies, and through the various forms of publicity and accepted methods of modern communication.

Government publishing

The processes that constitute general publishing are, in part, common to nearly all kinds of publishing, but special fields like Government publishing require variation in procedure.

The duties and responsibilities assigned to the Queen's Printer by the Public Printing and Stationery Act, and further detailed in T. B. Regulations 477983, relating to the requisitioning, printing, cataloguing, distribution and sale of government publications, impose responsibilities upon the Queen's Printer which are similar to those of a publisher in private commercial establishments.

There is, however, a key difference between the role of a commercial publisher and that of a government publisher which must be recognized. The former, because he normally takes the financial risk of promoting the publication, usually determines whether it will be printed. In government, by contrast, few publications are, or should be, promoted on commercial grounds alone. Publications are printed to further the programmes or objectives of a department or agency, and the originating department, as author, in this case pays most of the cost, thereby leaving it with the ultimate decision as to whether to print or not. The publisher's role in government is to estimate the potential market, to provide technical assistance before and during production and to assist the department in achieving the best possible distribution.

The Department of Public Printing and Stationery is both a printing and publishing establishment, according to Section 27 of the Public Printing and Stationery Act, R. S., Chapter 226, 1952, which reads as follows:

27. The Queen's Printer shall print and publish, or cause to be printed and published, for the Government, under his superintendence, the Statutes of Canada, the official gazette of Canada, which shall be known as the Canada Gazette, and all such official and departmental and other reports, forms, documents, commissions, and other papers, as he is required to print and publish, or cause to be printed and published, by or under the authority of the Governor in Council; and whatever is printed under his superintendence by authority of this Act, shall be held to be printed by him.
R. S., c. 162, s. 28.

The Queen's Printer is the official publisher of the Government of Canada. The formulation of policy and establishment of methods and procedures governing the publishing of parliamentary and non-parliamentary publications are major responsibilities of the Queen's Printer. He has to study and analyse the nature and purpose of official publications, to discuss publishing policies and procedures with parliamentary and departmental authors and editors, to establish publishing priorities and make recommendations. He must not only suggest the format (P. C. 1/247, 17-1-51) and help determine press runs, but also share in the cost of printing and assume full responsibility (T. B. 477983) for the bibliographical control and the sale and free distribution of Government publications.

The Queen's Printer publishes Parliamentary and Government publications in pursuance of parliamentary order or government policy. By authority of the Public Printing and Stationery Act, the Queen's Printer publishes "for the Government", and all official and departmental and other reports, forms, documents, commissions and other papers are published "under his superintendence".

The securing and selecting of manuscripts in book publishing is an editorial function. The distribution of authority and of particular duties in connection with this delicate and vital performance of editing varies among publishing houses, so much that perhaps no single pattern emerges.

In Government publishing, this function of editing is the exclusive responsibility of the Parliament and of Government departments and agencies. But, even at this initial stage of publishing, the Queen's Printer is consulted by the managing editors whose duties are planning and scheduling, co-ordinating details, and integrating the creative side of the publishing process with the production and business side.

The publishing responsibilities of the Queen's Printer, as described above, have been delegated to the Superintendent of Publications, in charge of the Publications Branch.

Importance of Government publications

The following paragraph is from "A Study of current bibliographies of national official publications", published in 1958 by the UNESCO International Committee for Social Sciences Documentation:

"The importance of these publications needs no demonstration. That it has always been great and is steadily increasing no doubt reflects the continual growth of the prerogatives and responsibilities of the State in the modern world. It is natural that these many activities should be mirrored in the documents which make their consequences known; the publication of such documents is indeed one of the forms of State action, and in many cases is prescribed by law. In an age, moreover, when publications of every kind are becoming more and more numerous, it is not surprising that those of the State should follow the same trend. Much activity which used to lie with private initiative has been taken up by the State and, consequently, official publications cover the most widely varied subjects and are often as essential for public information as they are for scientific knowledge".

The UNESCO study points out that only in certain countries is there an official service which assumes the publishing of all or some of the publications of the public authorities, that distribution is usually chaotic except in countries where printing and publishing are well organized, that in other countries, distribution, whether free or not, is made according to no established rule, and that their distribution services are ill-equipped to ensure the dissemination of publications. "Hence", points out the study, "the difficulty of obtaining them, even if one has succeeded in learning of their existence".

The UNESCO study outlines the usefulness of a central agency for the sale of State publications:

"In a few countries attempts (or plans) are being made to remedy the worst of these defects by establishing a central sales agency for State publications. This system should be encouraged. It is a reasonably sound economic proposition in view of the services rendered to users.

It may be argued that official publications are rarely of much commercial value and are not intended for a wide public. But compared with the cost of producing and printing a large number of official publications, the expense of operating a sales agency is small. On the other hand, the resulting increase in revenue is relatively large. It is better to spend a little more to make documents already published useful than to allow the expense of printing these documents to yield no return".

Bibliographical control of official publications

The UNESCO study adds that where there is a central publishing service for all the official publications of a country this service usually issues catalogues, which are the best possible bibliographical instruments, that in several countries highly developed in this domain, these catalogues comprise several editions at regular intervals (from the daily list to the annual cumulation), and that in countries where such publishing services exist, the bibliography of official documents no longer presents any general problem.

In its recommendations how to improve bibliographical control of official publications, the UNESCO study not only points out that the catalogue of a central publishing service is the best bibliographical instrument, but also gives as an example the classification system adopted by Canada, "where a catalogue is made by a central publishing service".

As recommended by UNESCO, of which Canada is a member, the Government of Canada has a central publishing service operating under the superintendence of the Queen's Printer.

C. Principal functions of the Publications Branch

The Publications Branch of the Department of Public Printing and Stationery is under the direction of the Superintendent of Government Publications. It is entirely a service agency engaged in cataloguing and distributing publications of the Federal Government.

It discharges four primary functions all provided for by legislation and Treasury Board Regulations.

(a) Compilation and issuance of official catalogues and price lists

Daily Checklist

The bilingual Daily Checklist, published mainly for administrative convenience, is issued Monday through Friday except public holidays. It records all government publications so that they are readily accessible to the Public Service and the public and quickly made known to libraries. Produced in loose-leaf form, the Daily Checklist is mailed to all who need day-to-day information on what is being published by Parliament and the various departments of the Government of Canada. The material which appears in the Daily Checklist is used to compile a monthly catalogue. All those who are entitled by law or regulation to a free copy of government publications receive the Daily Checklist automatically and without charge.

Monthly Catalogue

The bilingual Monthly Catalogue of Government Publications is a comprehensive listing of all official publications, public documents and papers, not of a confidential nature printed or "processed" at government expense by authority of Parliament or that of a Department, Commission, Board, Corporation, etc., of the Government, including publications bought at public expense for use of, or distribution to, Members of Parliament, public officials or the public.

For information purposes only, it also lists those few publications with an extremely limited distribution and not available to the public and which, at the issuing department's request, are not in the Daily Checklist for reasons peculiar to the department concerned.

Each issue of the Monthly Catalogue contains all items listed in the Daily Checklists during the previous month and is ready for distribution during the third week of the following month. Prices and distribution policy are stated for each title listed for the guidance of prospective buyers, librarians and the interested public.

Annual Consolidated Catalogue, 1953

The Canadian Government Publications Consolidated Annual Catalogue, 1953, supersedes the Annual Catalogue of 1948 and supplements to 1952 and incorporates all the entries from the Monthly Catalogue of Canadian Government Publications, January to September, 1953 inclusive. This catalogue, published in separate English and French editions, records free as well as priced publications, whether distributed by the Queen's Printer or by the various issuing agencies.

Annual Catalogues

The Annual Catalogue, 1954, is a supplement to the Consolidated Annual Catalogue 1953. It lists all federal publications received and noted by the Publications Branch from October, 1953 to December, 1954 inclusive and is also published in French.

The bilingual Annual Catalogues of Canadian Government Publications for 1955 and after are consolidated lists of the publications issued during those years. They cumulate the issues of the Monthly Catalogue of Canadian Government Publications, from January to November together with the publications noted in the Daily Checklist during the month of December.

Sectional catalogues

The sectional catalogue series will provide, when completed, a comprehensive record of all publications available for purchase arranged according to Government departments and including a selection of important related publications issued by Parliament, and by the various departments and agencies of the Government of Canada. The Sectional Catalogues will provide a subject approach to the many thousands of publications which form the sales stock of the Queen's Printer.

The following department sectional catalogues are now available: Labour publications, November 1955; Northern Affairs and National Resources Publications, June 1956; Mines and Technical Surveys Department, Mines Branch Publications, August 1957.

Selected Titles Bulletins

Published periodically, in French or in English, they contain short notes of current government publications. The contents of each book are briefly described and an order form accompanies each bulletin. Anyone interested may receive these bulletins simply by sending a postcard to the Queen's Printer asking to be placed on the Selected Titles mailing list.

(b) Sale of Government publications

The distribution of official documents on a commercial basis is the responsibility of the Queen's Printer.

Remittances

It is required by law that remittance be made in advance of shipment of publications. Cheque or money orders should be made payable to the Receiver General of Canada. Currency may be sent at sender's risk. Postage stamps and foreign money are not accepted.

Discounts

A discount of 40 per cent is allowed to all booksellers and those others engaged in the retail sale of miscellaneous or annual publications of the Canadian Government and 25 per cent on those sold on subscription basis and issued at regular or indefinite times.

A "quantity" discount of 25 per cent is allowed to purchasers of 100 copies or more of the same publication delivered to one address.

These publications shall not be overprinted with any advertising matter.

Deposit accounts

To avoid waiting for quotations and sending individual remittances, those who expect to purchase Canadian Government publications regularly may open a deposit account with the Superintendent of Government Publications. The minimum deposit is ten dollars ($10.00). A deposit account number is assigned to the customer which he will quote when ordering publications. All orders are charged to the account and a regular balance statement is forwarded to the depositor with each order he has placed and which has been processed by the Branch.

Charge accounts

Government departments and agencies, federal and provincial, may open charge accounts with the Superintendent of Government Publications.

Postage charges

Foreign buyers are urged to inquire before ordering a document to ascertain if it is still in stock and also the special selling price which may apply. To cover cost of postage this price may be up to 30 per cent higher than the catalogue price. Remittance from foreign countries should be made payable to the Receiver General of Canada by international money order, by draft on a Canadian or an American bank, or by way of UNESCO coupons. No extra charge for postage is made on documents shipped to points in Canada, the United States and Mexico.

- (c) Distribution of official publications to designated depository libraries and to persons and institutions entitled to receive them free of charge

The Queen's Printer is required by regulations to furnish free of charge one copy of any government publication not of a confidential nature, to designated classes of libraries in Canada, for preservation and educational purposes, so that all the public may have access to all government publications.

Libraries are expected to accept, shelve and preserve, classify and catalogue all government publications sent to them, and to assume full responsibility as depository libraries.

In the discharge of their official duties certain persons and institutions require Canadian Government publications. In such cases the Queen's Printer is authorized to supply copies of necessary documents free of charge.

Full depositories

The full-depository libraries are entitled to receive one copy of every publication of the Parliament or Government of Canada which is made available to the Superintendent of Government Publications for distribution.

Selective depositories

Selective-depository libraries are entitled to select any series of government publications they are able to adequately place at the disposal of the public.

The Daily Checklist incorporated the functions of a Depository Invoice for full-depository libraries and of an Order Form for selective-depository libraries. To receive the selection they have applied for, selective-depository libraries must make application within ten days after receiving the issues of the Daily Checklist in which the desired items appeared.

Depository libraries abroad

Some foreign libraries may be granted the same privileges as depository libraries in Canada. Foreign depositories appear on a list which is drawn up and revised annually by the Department of External Affairs of Canada. When a foreign library's application is accepted for designation as a depository of Canadian Government publications, it is on condition that it will assume the same obligations placed on similar depository libraries located in Canada.

- (d) Mailing service for other agencies of the Government including the maintenance of mailing lists

Included in Publications Branch functions are facilities and equipment for periodical addressing and mailing of publications sold by the department and/or free distribution on behalf of departments issuing such literature.

KEY TO DISTRIBUTION SYMBOLS

To avoid waiting for quotations and sending small individual remittances, those who expect to purchase Canadian government publications regularly may find it convenient to open a deposit account with the Queen's Printer. Deposits of $10.00 or more are accepted against which orders may be placed. Orders are charged to the account and regular statements forwarded.

Cheques or money orders should be made payable to the Receiver General of Canada. Postage stamps are not acceptable.

F R E E D I S T R I B U T I O N

The Daily Checklist is the only medium for obtaining official publications free of charge from the Queen's Printer. The Daily Checklist is the form used by persons and institutions entitled to receive one free copy of each publication by authority of Treasury Board Regulation T. B. 477983 of March 31, 1955. Requests for free publications received on a form other than the Daily Checklist cannot be honoured.
